

Do practicing designers rely on student research?

Of the 315 practicing designers we surveyed, 55 (17 percent) said they collaborate with students on research for their work. The designers also indicated the areas in which they regularly conduct research.